LATEST EDITION IN THE LAST DITCH.

FRIENDS OF THE CONDEMNED ANARCHISTS TRYING TO SAVE THEM.

Probability that the Case Will Be Carried to the United States Supreme Court—A Meeting of Female Anarchists—Gen. Parsons' Opinion—How Capt. Schaak Secured the Evidence—A Warning to Anarchists Now Enjoying Freedom.

CHICAGO, July 21.—There was a meeting last night of all the female relatives of the sentenced anarchists. They were reinforced by men from all parts of the city, and Miss Spies subsequently said that $4,000 was subscribed to the fund to carry the case to the Supreme Court.

Miss Spies said: "We have been watched and hounded by detectives and newspaper men until we are nearly harassed to death. But we got away with them all this time and have had our meeting. The law may beat us by Judge Gary's rulings and by the special pleas made by Mr.

Grinnell, but the Supreme Court never will endorse or rule the same way. Think of my brother being hanged when he was only trying to do the best he could to help workmen."

It was reported that Mrs. Holmes made an energetic plea to the meeting in favor of awaiting the decision of the Supreme Court.

The woman said that they were not in any fear of starvation or being detained for rent, as the oppressed of all nations would come to their rescue. When the meeting dispersed it was an easy morning hour, and the women all embraced and declared that they would stand together.

TRYING TO REVERSE THE VERDICT.

Gen. W. H. Parsons, brother of the convicted anarchist, says that every effort will be made to reverse the verdict and that the case will be carried to the Supreme Court of the United States if necessary. It is understood that the leading exception will be the refusal of Judge Gary to give for the defense the instruction which gave to all men the right to peaceably assemble and to rebel by force any attempt made, either by the authorities or private individuals, to break up such a meeting. If the State Supreme Court overrules them on this point, they will appeal to the United States Supreme Court on the ground that the question is a constitutional one.

AN UNFAIR TRIAL.

In an interview printed this morning Gustav Belz, the present managing editor of the Arbeiter Zeitung, asserts his belief that the trial was not conducted properly and says the Anarchists think money was a large factor in the result. Mr. Belz added that nearly $8,000 had been subscribed to the defense fund, and the jury would have brought in the verdict of yesterday? No, sir; a hundred times. The prisoners would have gone free. Every reporter who came to me told him nothing. I was working up the evidence little by little, piece by piece, and putting it together where it belonged. That all I knew as far as evidence, if I had told for the defense would have known what evidence was to be brought against them, and have been prepared to meet it. There is but one man beside myself who knew anything about what I was doing," said the officer in conclusion. "It is claimed that the attorneys for the State always relied on a verdict of doubt concerning the result. Had Schabert been at the bar they could have produced testimony corroborative of mine and thus the verdict would have been different. The anarchists were excluded under the rules of the court. They regard that Halthausen was not indicted for murder with the condemned men. There was not sufficient evidence to bring him before the Grand Jury, however.

The most important point against him was developed during the trial and by the witness for the defense and especially by Spies and Schwab."

THE PROBABLE INDICTMENT OF MOST.

There is some talk of getting Rau and Most indicted for the capital crime for a future

Grand Jury trial. Schabert had been indicted with his first story to Capt. Schaak.

Neebe, it is claimed, had shared the same fate of his conspirators. The Socialist labor unions, however, "reasoned with him and thus saved Neebe from the gallows.

The most active worker for the defense was an attorney or lawyer, from whom sworn was drilling the "army" of witnesses.

It is said he got Schabert over, and the anarchist who testified for the defense, the one drilled by him.

His knowledge of English is limited, or they might have tried to have him translated the verdict and prevent, if possible, the judgment being carried out.

VICTORIA, Tex., August 21.—A disastrous wind storm visited the city yesterday, leaving destruction and desolation in its track. The wind blew a perfect hurricane. About 7 o'clock the morning east-bound passenger train which was standing at the depot here was blown over on the platform. Several passengers were on the train, but all of them escaped uninjured. The freight depot and the Masonic Hall, both large buildings, are total wrecks, while the whole colored section of the city was swept from the earth. Two church steeples here having been blown down and churches unroofed. The High school building and the jail were considerably damaged. Altogether there were about seventy-five houses demolished and 118 more or less damaged. Few buildings escaped uninjured. Trees and most of the shrubby in the city were blown down and the streets were filled with debris. Business was entirely suspended. The loss is roughly estimated at $100,000. Old citizens say that it was the most terrible storm ever known in the city. The telegraph wires are all down and there is no connection South.

GLADSTONE DISGUSTED WITH THE GOVERNMENT'S LACK OF IRISH POLICY.

He Wants to See the State of Affairs in Ireland. Some Account of His Boasting of His Knowledge of the Situation in the Kingdom.

The Ex-Ministers Indignant at the Action of the Tories in Parliament—Parliamentary Introduction of Land Amendment—Parliamentary Candidate Elected at Edinburgh—A River Disaster in Russia—Foreign News.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, August 21.—Gladstone is in what is known as a great state of mind, because of the unprecedented course of the Tories in indicating in the Queen's speech that they had no Irish policy, but would take time to prepare one, and then immediately proposing one in the Commons. It fills his precedent-loving mind with disgust. What he feels strongly is that he is always sure to be strong, sooner or later. Moreover, he is gradually reaching the boiling point in regard to their action in the Commons. It must be remembered that between the two front benches sits a distinct Irish unit, and each party is considered in honor bound to comply. The chief feature of this code is the proper alternation of speakers. Last night, Harcourt, who was his best, in a formidable debate, showed a powerful attack on behalf of the Opposition. T. P. O'Connor spoke on behalf of the Parliaments so effectively that Gladstone sent a friend to congratulate him.

According to the parliamentary precedent, a Minister of high rank should have replied. Later, Churchill sent a note across to Morley to say that Hicks Beach would reply at 10 o'clock. This, of course, coming from the leader of the House, was implicitly believed and arrangements were made accordingly. A young Radical Cornish member named Cornbeare, of a matter of fact, prodded, sooner or later, to fill the gap. With great weariness, he spoke for an hour and a half, till five minutes past 11. By that time Hicks Beach had disappeared. There was a dead-lock. Meeting the Cornbeare, Morley said: "Whatever does this mean?" Churchill replied that the debate had sunk to so low a level that Hicks Beach could not think of taking part in it. This will probably sound in American ears like a confession of a ground for indignation here. It creates among the ex-Ministers great indignation, as showing the impossibility of reckoning on the good faith of the Government. I am able to state that among the Liberal leaders there is no intention to make a fight at present. They see no reason for immediate interference with regard to the Irish. There is nothing to prevent them debating the subject just as long as they like. I know that this is the case.

GLADSTONE'S OWN VIEW
Of the matter. The Government have, as a matter of fact, produced a policy, and are entirely containing in whole their view. Farnell therefore has a perfect right to discuss these to any extent. I learn that the present debate will last until Monday week. Tuesday week Farnell will introduce land amendments.

The following is the concluding passage: "One direct, supreme, perpetual interest at stake in this transaction is the binding force and sanctity of international law. Great Britain is ready at all times and in all seasons to uphold that principle; she cannot permit with it in the present instance. Her Majesty's Government cannot, therefore, consent to associate themselves in any shape with this proceeding of the Russian Government and are compelled to place on record their view that it constitutes a violation of the treaty of Berlin, unannounced by the signatory powers, and that it is a violation of the kind, difficult, if not impossible, and cast doubt, at least, on those already concluded."

Mr. Stephens Furnishes Corroboration of His Statements—Money Paid to the United States Man-of-War Officers by Grady-Secretary Bayard's Probable Successor—Another $15,000,000 Bond Call.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, D. C., August 21.—Yesterday, A. C. Stephens of Cape Town, Africa, was again before Judge Advocate-General Henney of the Navy Department in support of the charges made against the officers of the American ship, the Albatross, which was captured by the department with copies of letters from the department and his assistant, Delaney, which were furnished to the department yesterday. Stephens said he had been written to Grady, the broker who furnished supplies to the Albatross, urging him to stop the ship. Stephens said that the Albatross was a private ship, and that the department was not responsible for its actions. He also produced a check from Grady to the department, which was for $15,000,000. Stephens said that the department was not responsible for the actions of the Albatross, and that the department was not responsible for the actions of the Albatross.
